To our patrons and our community

A most special thanks to all those who stuck with us this last year.

You have endured unexpected locked doors, changes in rules and regulations, delays in requests, mask requirements, time constraints, programming changes, and Plexiglas barriers.

We have endured not seeing you and your families.

You have allowed us to protect ourselves to protect you.

And for that we are truly grateful.

X: A Novel

By Ilyasah Shabazz

Malcolm Little's parents have always told him that he can achieve anything, but from what he can tell, that's a pack of lies. Lured by the nightlife of Boston and New York, he escapes into a world of fancy suits, jazz, girls, and reefer. Deep down, he knows that the freedom he's found is only an illusion—and that he can't run forever.

July 7

The Paris Wife

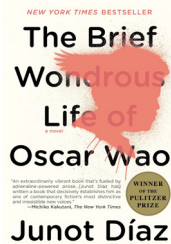

By Paula McLain

Ernest Hemingway and his wife, Hadley, become swept up in the hard-drinking, fast-living, and free-loving life of Jazz Age Paris—and a volatile group including Gertrude Stein, Ezra Pound, and F. Scott Fitzgerald. As Ernest struggles to find his literary voice and Hadley strives to hold on to her sense of self, they eventually face a deception that will lead to the unraveling of everything they've fought so hard for.

August 4

The Brief, Wondrous Life of Oscar Wao

By Junot Diaz

Oscar is a sweet but disastrously overweight ghetto nerd who—from the New Jersey home he shares with his old world mother and rebellious sister—dreams of becoming the Dominican J.R.R. Tolkien and, most of all, finding love. But Oscar may never get what he wants. Blame the fukú—a curse that has haunted Oscar's family for generations.
