Why is the Library Board asking for a 0.8 millage for 8 years?

The previously voted millage ended with the December 2013 taxes. A 0.8 millage would allow the library to replace lost services and add a few additional services. Library officials feel that although the economy is recovering, it is recovering slowly and they don't want to lock tax payers into a lengthy millage.

Income received vs. expenses paid out.

Despite sound management by the Library Board, the recession caused a deep decline in revenues from property values and interest rates which could not be foreseen during the previously voted millage. Thus, board and staff aggressively held tight reins on expenses to continue the same services and hours to the patrons.

What has been done to manage the finances of the library?

The library board has been very aggressive in trimming the budget:

- Reduced the number of staff and benefits, outreach services, janitorial services, materials purchasing, number of newsletters, programming
- Eliminated salary increases, all electronic subscriptions, all conferences and most workshops attended by staff, public computer classes
- Other measures taken: installed a high efficiency heating system and sewer meter to lower utility costs, secured grants for telephone service and new computers and copier, instituted several fundraising efforts
- The library's operating expenses have decreased since 2008.
- The library board continuously monitors interest rates and investment opportunities.
- Although property values have dropped 14% since 2007, the library has managed to keep operations running in this reduced income.

What will this cost me?

Market Value of your Home*	Taxable Value of Home*	Library Tax at 0.8 mills Per Year	Monthly Cost	Weekly Cost
$150,000	$75,000	$60.00	$5.00	$0.16
$200,000	$100,000	$80.00	$6.67	$0.22

* Taxable Value is based upon 50% of the market value of your property.

What will happen if the millage passes?

- Maintain current hours of operation
- Increase purchases of library materials
- Replace lost or decreased services:
 - public computer classes
 - technology upgrades
 - replenish staff by 2 part-time positions
 - adult and youth programing, small business support
- Maintain the building and its aging equipment

 - outreach services to seniors and homebound people
 - partnerships with the local schools to help support the students
 - add downloadable audiobooks to the existing e-book service

What about the fund balance?

The fund balance (savings) helps the library through the fluctuation of property values and unforeseen expenses, thus maintaining a balanced budget at all times. The sound management of this library requires a positive cash flow of all operations and utilizing this savings to meet obligations. As such, the library has relied on this fund balance since 2008 to maintain library service at the level residents have come to expect.
